

CURRICULUN VITAE

Name: Bilal Hamamra
Birthdate: 18 January 1984
Birthplace: Nablus
Marital Status: Single
Nationality: Palestinian
Addresses: Department of English,
Faculty of Arts,
An-Najah National University,
P.O.Box 7
E-mail: bilalhamamra@najah.edu

Education:

B.A An-Najah University, Nablus, Palestine, 2007
Major: English Language and Literature
M.A Lancaster University, Lancaster, 2011
Major: Early Modern Studies
Title of Dissertation: The Negotiation between bodies and spirits in four Revenge Tragedies
Ph.D Lancaster University, Lancaster, 2015
Major: Renaissance Drama
Title of Thesis: Silence, Speech and Gender in Early Modern Drama: A Presentist, Palestinian Perspective

Languages:

Arabic (mother tongue)
English (language of specialization)
French (rudimentary knowledge)

Employment Experience:

2014 – Present, Teaching at the BA program in English Language and Literature, Department of English, An Najah National University
2007 -2008, Teaching at Governmental Secondary Schools, Ramalla
2008-2010, Teaching English at Hisham Hijjawi College of Technology,
Nablus

Volunteer Work

2006-2007, monitoring students' writing, the English Department's writing, An-Najah National University

-editing and reading English news, An-Najah Radio Station, An-Najah National University

Conferences, Seminars Participation and Attendance

2011-2014, a member of early modern literature reading group, Lancaster University, Lancaster,

2013-2014, a chair of MA conference, Lancaster University, Lancaster

Awards

2013, The Award of The Department of English and Creative Writing, Lancaster University,

2008, a 50-book prize in HAMSА Dream Deferred Essay Contest on Civil Rights in The Middle East

References

-Dr. Odeh Odeh, The Department of English, An-Najah National University

– Dr. Abdul-Karim DaraghmeH, Director, Languages Center, An-Najah National University

– Dr. Nabil Alawi, The Department of English, An-Najah National University

– Prof. Alison Findlay, The Department of English, Lancaster University, UK

