Biography:

In 1988, I earned my bachelor degree in nursing from AL-Quds University, Palestine. It did not take a long time to find a job after graduation since there was a lack of women staff nurse in the majority of hospitals in Palestine. I began working in the Red Crescent Hospital in Jerusalem and in a short period of time, I became the senior staff nurse of normal nursery and neonatal intensive care unit.

After the completion of my master degree in 2003 from AL-Quds University, my determination to see an increased involvement of women in the nursing field in Palestine did not stop there. In 2006 until now, I join to Al-Najah National University as a teaching staff. Moreover, I am so delightful to be in the teaching staff to teach and encourage students from both genders to raise awareness among our society especially in these days as we face and live in the war conflict.

I attended several conferences locally and internationally that are related to my specialty field in which I gained a leading skill as a preventive to all women in my society.

Finally, "When I learn something, when I know something, when I find something. I always want to share it. Because life is better when we share it".
